Based on charges from multiple Senate staff (A number of Senators found themselves to have been the targets of malicious search engine "locking" and data manipulation, too), plus the malicious cyber-bullying attack contracted against American citizens, plus investigations by multiple public service groups and media organizations; a technical experiment was conducted, and continues to be conducted. Thousands of news reports and special investigations have now confirmed that Google works hand-in-hand with IQT and RUNS NAF.

To prove the intentional and malicious acts by Google, hundreds of websites and news sites were created and placed around the world. Additional news, media and special interest sites also joined the test. This testing system is known as the "Comparative Array".

From 2008 forward, various terms, names and phrases were placed on these sites.

At frequent and regular intervals the search results for these phrases were tested on Google, Bing, Ask, Yahoo and other search engines. The results were compared on an instantaneous basis in side-by-side analysis. You can conduct a similar test, yourself, today, with easily acquired resources.

Text that was favorable to Google, it's investors, owners and partners was contrasted to text or stories which were unfavorable.

Over that time-frame, relative to certain news-stories, The results are shocking! Google was, very specifically and dramatically, manually and consciously manipulating it's search engine, ranking, mood manipulation and user guidance in order to harm some, and favor others. There was nothing arbitrary about the Google results.

Because of the dominant control that Google has exerted over internet communications, U.S. First Amendment, Monopoly and Securities laws come into play when investigators examine the possible criminal manipulation of such public information routes on a Monopolistic basis.

Further investigations of the matter are continuing and additional parties are joining these investigations.

The Testing Intentional and Manual Google Algorithm Manipulations experiment demonstrates that someone is using Google to manipulate public perceptions of selected programs, policies and media coverage.

In one case, a character assassination article, generated by In-Q-Tel, and associates, targeting a Plaintiff who produced technology which competed with In-Q-Tel's investors older technology, was posted on the web by the Defendants. Only Google refused to remove links to it, after nearly 30 requests. Every other search engine in the world, immediately removed the links. Eric Schmidt runs In-Q-Tel's sister organization: New America Foundation; is frequently quoted in the news hyping In-Q-Tel and has a financial and political connection to almost every In-Q-Tel asset. His business competed with those Plaintiffs and... that very same Eric Schmidt is the head of Google. Most of Eric Schmidt's investment partners, who are competitors of these Plaintiffs, are also involved with In-Q-Tel. Thousands of news report now claim that In-Q-Tel runs "command and control" decisions at Google. Defendants paid for all of the same political campaigns and all received profits and/or the same benefits from those political entities; in addition to a vast number of other covert connections. Every participant in Defendants malicious attacks on Plaintiffs held ownership in competing ventures.

All the investigations tie these people, and their actions, to each other via transactions, communications, meetings, profits, stock trades, phone calls, texts, emails, dozens of false-front corporations, dark-money conduits and political PACs.

The video online by The Corbett Report and others, particularly the video called: "The Spies Who Went Rogue: The Story of In-Q-Tel", provides hard evidence of the illicit connections. Over 10,000 published news reports provide evidence of the illicit connections. Federal, State and Congressional investigations, some of which have access to law enforcement tracking data-engine: XKEYSCORE, confirm the illicit connections.
